

Shane Dieter Bio

Shane was born with pixels for pupils. He began his career in design creating sales and marketing tools for his window tinting company here in Las Vegas about 20 years ago. He found he had a knack for composition and overall appeal. Educating himself with thousands of hours of online courses and working for a local design company for a brief period, Shane has become one of the most sought after graphic and web designers in the Las Vegas valley. With his uncanny ability to see through the consumers eye in relation to just about any industry, his integrity in the business community, and his mastery of Photoshop and similar software, Shane has built a remarkable portfolio that is second to none. You need only consult with Shane verbally for just a few minutes and your idea will spring to life right before your eyes, exceeding your expectations. His diligence, determination, and acute attention to detail can be seen in everything he does, from logos and print collateral, to web pages and vehicle wraps.

As a second generation photographer, Shane was literally conceived in his fathers dark room back in the 70's. However, he has embraced the final frontiers of digital imagery with immense enthusiasm. Opting for the wizardry of Photoshop over his fathers chemical laden domain, he has become a master of digital manipulation. He has shot weddings all over the county and captured portraits that could easily grace the cover of Cosmo.

Whatever your digital needs, Shane will meticulously accomplish the task.
